A. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions. [10 marks]

Deep in the forest on a hill, there lived Kendo. He was a giant. He had a huge jaw and a long beard. The villagers were afraid of him. Kendo was lonely because he did not have any friend. He would hide in his house so that the villagers could go into the forest to chop the firewood and collect fruits and vegetables. In the evening, the children would go and play in his garden.

It rained heavily for a few months. Soon, the village was flooded. Kendo saw what was happening. "I need to help the villagers. They have no place to live and no food to eat," he said.

Kendo quickly made bridges to connect the village to the hill for the villagers. He also helped the villagers to save their belongings. He offered them to stay in his house and keep them warm. He cooked meals for the villagers and he played with the children in his garden.

The villagers were ashamed. They thanked Kendo for his kindness and they asked for forgiveness. The villagers and Kendo became friends.

Azlan : Hello, Johnny. What are you reading?
 Johnny : Hi, Azlan. I am reading a poster about 'Safety First'. It teaches us how to stay safe on the road, in the school and at home.
 Azlan : That's interesting! Tell me about it. . .
 Johnny : We must use the zebra crossing and the overhead bridge to cross the road. We must not play and push one another while crossing the road.
 Azlan : Yes, that's true. It is dangerous to play on the busy roads.
 Johnny : In the school, we must queue up when buying food at the canteen. We must not run and play when walking up and down the stairs. We may fall and injure ourselves.
 Azlan : You're right. It is important to keep ourselves safe.
 Johnny : The poster also mentioned that we must not open the door to any stranger when we are alone at home. We must inform our parents when strangers come near us.
 Azlan : These are very useful information. Thank you for sharing the information with me.
 Johnny : You're welcome.
