Read the passage below carefully and then answer the questions that follow.

A crow was flying around in search of food. One day it saw a flock of doves eating rice grains in the field. The crow could not go near because a man was guarding the doves. It hid high up in a tree and looked at the doves with admiration.

The crow looked at the doves every day as they enjoyed eating the rice grains. The crow was hungry but could do nothing to eat the food.

"How can a black crow join the white doves?" the crow asked itself. Then it came out with a plan. It painted its body white to look like a dove. After that it flew amongst the flock of doves. In this way it was free to eat the rice grains as much as it liked.

The crow was so happy that it started to sing out loudly. Its rough voice surprised the doves. They recognized it for a crow. The doves attacked and drove the "white" crow away.
