Section D: Comprehension (11marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

I was in primary two when I saw something in the news that bothered me. It was about a group of homeless people sleeping outside the cold. I felt sorry for them.

I decided to start a club. The goal was to raise money to help the homeless. I called it the Rock Club. We spent all our time at recess painting rocks. We worked on anything we felt like painting.

After which, we would go around school in search of teachers who would buy them as paperweights. We sold the rocks for twenty cents and even up to fifty cents each. By Christmas that year, we had raised a hundred dollars. We decided to give the money to the homeless shelter.

My mother offered to take me there to deliver the money. When we pulled up, we notice that there were families sitting on the pavement. We met the lady at the front desk and gave her the money that the club earned. She was very grateful. In the shelter, the helpers were making what seemed like endless rows of gingerbread man. It was amazing to me that for every gingerbread man, the shelter was expecting a person in need of food and shelter.

A few days later, a newspaper reporter came to school to meet our Rock Club member We felt proud that we did something to raise awareness about the homeless.
